New Business:

The meeting was turned over to new President Camryn Day. Camryn welcomed guest Brenda Kane. Brenda shared that she had spoken to Amy Toliver, the President of the SoCal club. Amy stated that her group would not be able to host the Area VII National Show this year, due to the high price of the facilities. Brenda mentioned that AMHR was contacted, and they were still open to the idea of California hosting the show despite the official deadline for hosting the show had passed. Brenda stated that if the Area VII Club was open to the possibility of hosting the show, then we would need to contact Jill at AMHR and she would present it to their Board. Brenda stated that there was discussion about a possible stipend from AMHR to help with certain show expenses. Brenda checked with Brookside regarding their prices for the facility and their availability of dates. They had an opening for April 23n& 24 but Rinda Pullen and crew were not available to manage the show on that date. A different manager would need to be found.

Casey Campbell generously offered to ask his clients to sponsor classes so the Club would not risk losing income by hosting the show.

Michele and other members expressed their concern for not having an experienced show manager available for this caliber of a show. Michele stated that since it was the beginning of the year, some show managers had not yet renewed their licenses, therefore leaving clubs short on options.

After further discussion regarding the condition of the Brookside facility, available stewards and show managers, Michele made a motion that the Area VII Club refrain from hosting the

APPROVED

Area National show this year. Robert Blackwell seconded the motion and the motion was passed by all the members.

The club trailer is currently being cared for by Richard Radulovich. We greatly thank him.

2022 club activities:

The following Club activities have been suggested for the 2022 year.

Halloween play date:

As previously requested, Susan researched some possibilities for this event. She contacted Ranch Hotel about their facilities but after several non-returned phone calls, moved on to other choices.

Susan contacted Debbie Packard at Clay station. She reported the prices for the facility and the lunch. Also there are pens available for those who might need an overnight stay. If you have a Stallion staying over, there are additional safety rules. Susan and Robert are willing to plan this event but would appreciate some additional help.

The following events are in the works and need further discussion.
